AMUSEMENTS

WILLIAM FARNUM AT THE BUTLER

The offering at the Butler today will be William Farnum, the peer of the screen, in his latest photodrama, "Wings of the Morning", a picturization of the well known novel written by Louis Tracy. This is a stirring sea story with all the elements necessary for a superior British army post. Mr. Farnum, as the hero, is cashiered out of the service on a false charge, and later is found as a sailor on board a passenger steamer crossing the China Sea. The boat is wrecked on an uncharted island during a typhoon, and he rescues the daughter of the owner of the line. Their vicissitudes and adventures on the island and the final denouement are said to be developed along extremely dramatic lines. It is a photoplay filled with stirring action—a romantic love story fascinatingly told, a thrilling tale of a man's fight against a storm-tossed ocean, snatching from its jaws the girl he had learned to love—a thrilling story of a man who sacrificed his honor to save a woman's good name.

Added to the feature, a Ford Weekly and a Mutt and Jeff comedy.

Tomorrow Alice Joyce, in a big Special production, "The Vengeance of Durand" Coming soon, "Behind the Door".

The other kind is plentiful enough, but successful liars are born, not made.
